

Start today

*When you've given
All that you can
You're out of breath
The miles you've ran
The mountains you've climbed
The roads you've endured
The valleys you've seen
The clouds that obscured
The sky so high
The caverns below
The seeds you've planted
Time starts to sow*

*Beyond your control
The fields of green
The view of tomorrow
Is seldom seen
Restored by hands
His presence felt
The warmth of the Son
The heart starts to melt
The birth of His Son
The death of our brother
And He asks
Love one another
He has risen
And so shall we
Start today
Be all we can be*